

My Hero

We all have our heroes, people that inspire us every day with their actions. Heroes, whether they are dead or alive help us cope with problems that we face every day of our lives. They don't even have to be famous. They can be our personal heroes: our parents, siblings, friends or even our neighbours.

My hero is Kim Kardashian. Every day, her humble but noble actions inspire me to do good myself. I love the way she deals with paparazzi. Her confidence and self-consciousness motivate me to be more like her. Her and her family's bravery being some of the most famous people in Los Angeles is truly inspiring, but at the same time also frightening. She is constantly a target of tabloids and other media that spread lies. She is removed to have done a lot of bad things in the past, but I honestly don't believe that. I can't imagine how hard it is for her being a constant victim to lies and gossip, but she somehow manages to deal with it and that's what I love about her and why she is my hero. Her motto is: „It's not how hard you can hit. It's about how hard you can get hit and keep moving.“

I believe that we should all have at least one hero, and if we don't, we won't know which way we're heading in life. Kim Kardashian is my hero and I hope she always stays the person she is today.

My hero

Today I'm going to write about a person who was the base of this class. I'm going to write about the teacher Spomenka. Teacher Spomenka was our first to fourth grade teacher.

I think that she helped us a lot. When we first stepped foot in this school, scared and without any knowledge, she helped us. She taught how to read and write, do the maths and many other things. She always did the best to make us the best. And I think she did. We are the best class in the world! When we were younger, we just couldn't wait to leave this school. And now as we are in the 8th grade, we really don't want to leave this school and our friends behind. Teacher Spomenka had a huge impact on us. She taught us how to be responsible, how to act in public and to know what time it is. She made learning fun and at the end of school year we always had great teaparties.

I've always liked her and looked up to her. Because of her I want to be a teacher. I don't know if she made an impact and someone else, but she has made me me.
